What do you have to do next?

Telephone us for further advice or see our website and identify for yourself suitable mediators from our panel, and obtain a cost estimate online

Our website gives plenty of information about what happens at mediations but we are always happy to answer questions on the telephone

Speak to your solicitor (although mediations can take place without legal representation)

Tell the solicitor that you want to try mediation

Ask the other side if they will attend a mediation: or ask us to speak to them

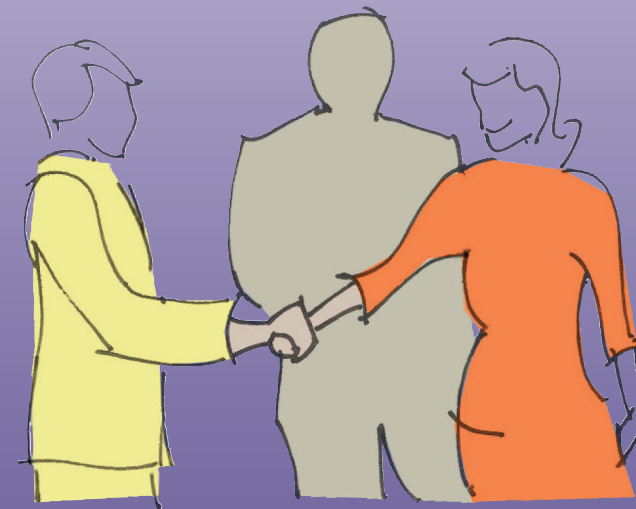

The other side will need to be told about the attractions of mediation

You don't have to tell your opponent but they could be criticised at any subsequent trial for not agreeing to mediation, and then face possible financial penalties

Reasons why you should try Mediation rather than Court

It will probably save you a lot of money

It will certainly be less stressful - just imagine having to give evidence in front of a judge

It can be arranged without delay

Mediated disputes are normally resolved within a day

Life can quickly return to normal

You will spend much less time thinking about it all during the day - and at night

You will be in control of settlement terms

Through the Court process you may win; you may lose. Some may call that a lottery

Going to Court may make you an enemy for life - mediation can mean you get back on speaking terms

You help decide where and when you want to meet

Mediation is all about problem solving - the mediator is trained to do just that

Once signed, the settlement cannot be appealed - you will know where you stand

Why are we so confident that you will like Mediation?

Over 80%* of mediated disputes are successfully resolved on the day or shortly thereafter

So what is so special about Specialist Mediators?

We are mediation providers and are accredited by the Civil Mediation Council

We are mediators ourselves but also arrange mediations for other mediators. We are all accredited by top training bodies

Our panel of mediators have specialist knowledge in a number of business and professional areas - their credentials can be viewed on our website

Many people like to have a mediator with relevant specialist knowledge - specialists might be able to think of a solution that the others have not

There again, others prefer someone with a mind uncluttered by background knowledge - we can do that too. We will supply a non specialist in your area of business

We can also arrange for an interpreter to be present

If required, we can arrange for a suitable suite of rooms to be made available, and lay on catering

*We may be able to advise on ways of achieving 100% settlement. Please see our website for details
